

Moritz Weiß Klezmer Trio | Presse

Line-Up:

Moritz Weiß | clarinet

Niki Waltersdorfer | guitar, percussion, voice

Maximilian Kreuzer | doublebass

Presenting old traditional sounds in a new guise: Moritz Weiß Klezmer Trio present their own take on Klezmer music by developing it further and retelling it in a wonderful new musical language. Founded in 2015, this virtuosic trio bridges the gap between past and present, incorporating many musical forms and styles from other epochs, while always giving a respectful nod to the Jewish music tradition. The sophisticated pieces of Moritz Weiß Klezmer Trio are loaded with energy and artfully multi-layered with elements from various other genres, such as jazz and classical music. Moritz Weiß Klezmer Trio was chosen to be NASOM act 2020/21. (Text: NASOM)

Kleine Zeitung Steiermark, February 2018:

"The trio connected their different energies so cleverly that their playing seemed impetuous and natural. Whether interlude with body percussion, musical wit, invitation to hum along, sparkling solos, sounding dialogues: The Moritz Weiß Klezmer Trio made itself heard brilliantly."

Jazzthetik Magazin (D), September 2018:

„ ... Spheres (album) is an attractive business card on a consistently high level... “

Styriarte, Feber 2018:

"... with their new program "Spheres" the three virtuoso gentlemen from Graz immerse the audience in an alternating bath of emotions by expressing deep melancholy and immense joie de vivre with their music."

Franz Josef Kerstinger, Radio Ö1, April 2018:

„ (...) they have, so to speak, developed their own music, their 'sound of the spheres' (...)”
